

CompaCon BC Belt Conveyor

Flexible conveying solutions

ANDRITZ CompaCon BC conveyors provide an efficient and high-quality solution for bulk materials handling.

These belt conveyors are easily configured to match your process and plant layout due to their flexible modular design and the use of standard components. The bolted connections on the CompaCon BC minimize the need for on-site welding, reducing the time and effort required for installation. CompaCon BC conveyors are available in a variety of configurations.

Main customer benefits

- High quality components ensure reliable performance

- Design flexibility to match specific plant, process, and product requirements
- Standard components simplify configuration, operation, and maintenance
- Fast installation
- Adaptable to a wide range of bulk materials

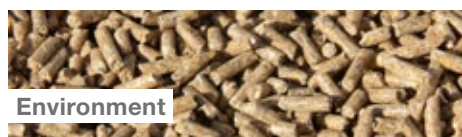

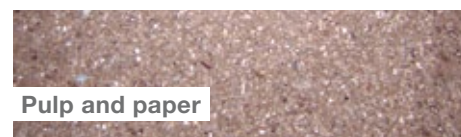

CompaCon BC Belt Conveyor

Advantages

ANDRITZ SEPARATION offers basic and advanced designs of CompaCon conveyors. The primary advantages of our conveying technologies include:

- Support. We offer complete technical support and service through a global network of local service centers.
- Cost efficiency. Our automated design-to-manufacturing process reduces engineering and production times. We maintain a global network of workshops in order to source the most economical manufacturing, with the lowest transportation costs.
- Proven technology. From simple conveying and transport (where reliability is paramount) to metering and levelling applications (where accuracy impacts the quality and stability of the process), ANDRITZ has the experience to deliver a superior solution.
